

Abstract Of The Disclosure

The present invention relates to drug delivery devices for moist tissue, in particular mucosal tissue and tissue in the serous cavities, as well as a method of its use.

The devices, which contain NOCC, are adherent to the mucosal tissue, allowing

- 5 localized drug delivery. The devices are particularly useful in vaginal, buccal and ocular devices.

005020 1520560